

CONTEMPORARY

Slant, slate and collage, 61x46cm

Bob Barron

Time past and time present

29th March - 25th April 2019

Monday – Friday 11am – 6pm | Saturday 11am – 5pm

For a private appointment please contact: am@dcontemporary.com

23 Grafton Street, London W1S 4EY | T: 020 7824 1920 | www.dcontemporary.com

CONTEMPORARY

Bob Barron

Time past and time present

Split 2, Oil on Canvas

D Contemporary is delighted to present this solo exhibition of the work of Bob Barron. Throughout his career, he has exhibited widely in prestigious venues across the country and his work can be found in public and private collections.

The exhibition shows Barron's highly individual use of various materials, including oil paint, slate, cardboard and paper. His passionate conviction that these materials – both natural, created in ancient seas millions of years ago, and man-made, created in factories since the twentieth century – are all part of one continuum, one long and fascinating story: material that has been in human contact both in its making and in its use to this day.

Various images – the abiding stars in the night sky; the 'marks' left behind by the elements which taught us to begin to understand it all and the common or garden objects we are all familiar with, appear throughout this thought-provoking exhibition.

BOB BARRON